

MANAGEMENT PROFILE

Lucy Pat Moteka

Human Capacity Development Manager

Lucy Moteka is the Human Capital Development Manager at BioPAD, with her main being role to broker partnerships amongst various stakeholders so as to develop entrepreneurs and cutting-edge technologies to address national imperatives. She has drawn up various HCD programmes including the internship development training program and bimentorship program, investments/platforms development program, industry partnerships and collaborations, and scholarship and sponsorships.

She obtained an MSc in Biochemistry from the University of Witwatersrand and an IMM Diploma (Marketing Management) from the Institute of Marketing Management. She also obtained a Diploma in Project Management from Damelin, obtained Employee Benefit Schemes Accreditation from Sanlam Training College, and qualified in Executive Coaching at Wits Business School.

Prior to joining BioPAD, Lucy was Business Manager at CHC Polymerworld where she drew on strong management skills and was required to set structures in place, improve service delivery, deliver results on major projects within set time frames, and cost budgets. She also participated in the mentorship program for junior managers for further development. She has also worked at Sasol Polymers, National Sorghum Breweries and Unilever/Lever Industrial.